In addition to the daily prayers at the opening of the School, one hour in each week is assigned to special devotional exercises and practical instruction, under the charge of one of the Professors, and attended by all the Students.

Students unable to provide themselves with the books above named may, to a limited extent, obtain them from the Library of the Institution.

Comparatively few text-books are needed, as the instruction is mostly given by lectures, of which the students are required to take copious notes.

Of Admission.

Every person producing to the Faculty satisfactory evidence of his having been admitted a Candidate for Priest's Orders, may be received as a student in the Divinity School. Any other person may be admitted who shall produce satisfactory evidence of moral and religious character, of literary attainments, and, in general, of such disposition and habits as may render him apt and meet to exercise the ministry, and to be a suitable companion for young men preparing for the same.

To be admitted a member of the Middle or Senior Class, or of the Junior Class after the month of September, a person must undergo a satisfactory examination in the studies which have been pursued by the class for which he proposes. Persons so desiring may be admitted to a partial course.

No student can pass from a lower to a higher class except upon a satisfactory examination.

Opening.

The School opens on the third Thursday in September, which in the present year (1881) will be on the 15th day of the month.

The Professors will meet applicants for admission at eleven o'clock on the day above named in Spencer Hall, Thirty-ninth and Walnut Streets, West Philadelphia, and admit on probation such as are found to have the qualifications required.

Applicants for the Senior and Middle Classes will be examined by the Professors at twelve o'clock of the same day, at the same place.

At four o'clock, P. M., Divine Service is celebrated, followed by an address to the students from one of the Professors.

The ordinary exercises of the Institution begin at noon on Friday.

For information respecting admission or rooms, address the Rev. Dr. Meier-Smith, Secretary of the Faculty.

Of the Library.

The Library contains about 8,000 volumes, including many of the most valuable theological works, to which the students have access daily.

Of Vacations and Examinations.

The year is divided into three terms: the first beginning on the third Thursday in September, and ending on the 24th day of December, when there is a suspension of study until the next day after the Feast of the Epiphany. The second term ends on the Friday next before the sixth Sunday in Lent, when there is a recess until the Wednesday after Easter. The third term continues until the Thursday after the third Tuesday in June.

The recitations and lectures are omitted on Ash-Wednesday, and on all days of public thanksgiving or fasting especially appointed by the ecclesiastical or civil authority.

Before the Christmas and Easter vacations there are reviews and examinations, at the discretion of the Faculty.

Three times a year written examinations are required; and at the end of the year there is a public examination of the several classes upon all the studies of the year.

The Annual Commencement takes place on the Thursday after the third Tuesday in June; when, after Divine Service, testimonials are conferred, and there are such exercises on the part of the students as may be designated by the Faculty.

Of Expenses.

Rooms plainly furnished, supplied with beds, fuel and light, sufficient for about twenty students, may be had in Divinity Hall, under regulations prescribed by the Faculty.

Persons occupying these rooms are subject to a charge from 50 to 75 cents per week for the care of rooms, linen and service.

Board may be obtained in the vicinity of the school for $4 or $5 per week.

There is at present a Boarding Club in Divinity Hall at which the price is about $3.50 per week.

Young men requiring pecuniary assistance to enable them to prosecute their studies in theology, may make application to the Dean of the Faculty for direction and advice.

The friends of theological education are invited to endow Scholarships for the School. Each Scholarship requires for its foundation $5,000. Several such have already been founded.

Societies.

THE MISSIONARY SOCIETY.

This is an Association having for its object the "Promotion of Missionary Interests among the Students." At the regular monthly meetings of this Seminary year (1880-81) addresses have been made by Bishop Stevens, of Pennsylvania; Bishop Riley, of Mexico; Bishop Penick, of Africa, and Bishop Tuttle, of Utah and Idaho.

THE BISHOP STEVENS LITERARY SOCIETY.

The object of the Literary Society is to promote the study of general literature and of history, and to exercise its members in pulpit oratory and extemporaneous speaking.

Meetings are held on the first Friday evening of every month in the chapel.

Buildings.

The buildings at present owned by the Institution are known as Divinity Hall and Spencer Hall. The former is the residence of a considerable number of the students. The front parlor in this building is appropriated as a Reading Room, and an office for the Dean.

Spencer Hall contains the Library of the Divinity School, and the Chapel for the religious services held with the students. The Chapel, being divisible into two rooms by sliding doors, and the Library, are also used as Lecture and Recitation Rooms.
